Society in Connection with It.

A meeting of ladies and gentlemen will be held in the rooms of the Rosemary Free Library, corner of Reservoir and Cary streets, at 8 o'clock to-night for the purpose of establishing a literary society. It is expected that there will be a large attendance. The citizens from every portion of the city are invited to attend, and all who take an interest in encouraging reading and in developing the literary spirit and taste are expected to be present. There will be no expense or cost attending the joining of this new literary society.

The officers of the Rosemary Free Library are greatly interested in making this movement a success, and for that purpose they have given the use of its rooms for the meetings of the club without any charge. The subjects to be discussed can be well studied in the select library which the association now owns. Indeed it was in the hope of attracting the adult population of the city, and especially of that neighborhood that the idees of ferming this literary club had its origin. ver there for the night and the cton Artillery will probably sitzers (who leave the Hotel

WHAT THE ASSOCIATION IS DOING FOR THE YOUTH OF VIRGINIA.

burg To-Day -Full Attendance Expected-Outline of the Programme.

The train leaving here at 9 o'clock this morning over the James-River division of the Chesapeaks and Ohio system will carry fifty or more delegates to the State Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of Virginia, which meets in the First Baptist church of Lynchburg at-3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The body will be in session until Sunday night, when what is called the farewell fifteenth.

There will be Christian workers present from other sections, and the general interchange of views will be beneficial to all, and will give greater inspiration to those engaged in this great work for the salvation of the young men of our line.

and knapsacks.

The company is composed exclusively of volerans of the war for the Union; have visited almost every section of the United States since its return from the war, is which it served from the beginning to the end. It was organized in 1882. It is a close corporation, active membership being limited to fifty, but the honorary roll embraces hundreds of prominent people from all over the State of New Jersey.

N. Anderson, L. B. Turnbull, and Mervin Branch.
Messra. James S. Atkinson, the assistant secretary, and M. L. Dawson, gymnasium instructor, will also go.
On the same train will be the Hampton delegation of sixteen members, some of whom will be accompanied by their wives and daughters. The delegates from Fortress Monroe leave here at the same time.
If there he no accident the whole party will reach the Hill City in time to take part in the opening exercises. The delegates expect to return to Richmond at 8 o'clock Monday morning.

MUST HAVE CEEDENTIALS.
Each association in Virginia is entitled

Each association in Virginia is entitled to an unlimited number of delegates, and Christian young men from towns where there are no associations will be cordially welcomed. They should, however, carry credentials from their pastors, and they will be received as corresponding members and entertained. Credentials should be presented to the Credential Committee, who will be in session at the association building on Church street.

SOME WHO TAKE PART.

A varied and interesting programme has been provided. In addition to the workers from the Virginia Association the following well-known association workers and Christian business-men will take part in the proceedings of the convention: H. Thane Miller, Esq., of Cincinnati, O.; R. R. McBurney, general secretary of the New York city association; C. J. Hicks, railroad secretary of the International Committee; C. E. Hurlburt, State secretary of Pennsylvania; W. E. Colley, State secretary of Connecticut; W. H. Morris, general secretary of Baltimore association; A. T. Jameson, general secretary Charleston (S. C.) association Rev. C. P. Williamson, Lexington, Ky.

Others who have been invited are: Hon. W. P. C. Breekinridge, of Kentucky; L. A. Coulter, State secretary of North Carolina, and J. A. Pugh, general secretary of Washington (D. C.) Association.

A large male chorus will aid in the singing, under the direction of Mr. John H. Hall, of Portsmouth.

Parlor conferences at private residences will be held for pastors, college delegates, railroad delegates, and committeemen, district and local. Reduced railroad rates have been secured for all delegates.

The crying want which this must fill is felt by every one who considers the moral and intellectual growth of this community. What means these gentemen will take to establish this public institution have not yet been matured. It is expected, however, that in a few days there will be a meeting of the gentlemen interested for the purpose of arounding public interest in the enterprise and commencing the work which it is to be head will be carried to a successful issue.

A PROSPEROUS YEAR.

A PROSPEROUS YEAR.

The reports of the State Committee to be presented at this convention will show the largest advance ever made by the committee in one year. The Sunday-afternoon services of the Richmond Association will not be suspended on account of the convention.

Assistant-Secretary James S. Atkinson will report the Richmond Association as having 850 members—active, 547, and associate, 303, and three committees—Devotional, Reception, and Usher. There are 77 members on committees, 55 periodicals

Several persons have been spoken of in connection with the vacancy, but the committee has as yet considered only one or two. Mr. Williams would perhaps be chosen, but it is said he would not retire from the State work to accept.

The committee is very favorably inclined to a talented young Scotchman, who is assistant secretary of one of the largest associations in the North, and who it is thought would like to come South. If a selection is not made soon after the convention adjourns this gentleman will probably be corresponded with.

Broad-Street Store to Be Erected.

With the dissipation of bad weather and the reappearance of the sun there is always a revival in the building business.

Ground was broken yesterday at the northwest corner of Main and Seventh streets for a splendid block of business. These will perhaps be some of the handsomest stores on Main street.

Bids were also received yesterday for the erection of a fine store on Broad between Foushee and First streets for Mr. Isaac D. Cardozo.

Messrs, Trexler & Elmore will also build for themselves on Laurel between Main and Cary streets three handsome residences faced with stock bricks, to be two stories high with mansard roofs.

The City's New Year.

The Mayor will probably present his annual message to the Common Council at its next meeting. This will cmbrace the reports of all the city officers. That of the Superintendent of the Gas-Works and some others are already in hand. The heads of the departments have until the 15th of this menth to complete this work. It is thought that the Mayor's message will be unusually interesting, as so many municipal improvements are being talked of at the present time. The financial condition of the city will probably be dealt with at length and some important recommendations made.

The Finance Committee is expected to have its budget ready for presentation during the earlier part of March.

In his report the Chief of Police will call attention to the necessity of a police patrol-wagon.

The powers of the Executive Committee are very comprehensive. They arrange for organization and instruction; attend to all financial affairs, including the supervision of the State business agency, and are the legislative and executive power of the State body.

The State Alliance will hold its annual session in Richmond this year, beginning Tuesday, August 18th.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT SPEARS.

A Dispatch reporter was at Ford's Hotel last night just after the meeting adjourned. The President was in a hurry to leave, having important business elsewhere. He stopped long enough, however, to say that he and Vice-President Beverly were at the meeting of the National Committee in Washington a few days ago, when the question of district alliances was freely discussed.
